Summary:

After years living abroad with his high school sweetheart, Jeremy approaches a milestone meltdown. Dumped by his girlfriend while his first novel project reaches a dead-end, he has to go back to his parents' home in Paris. Supported by Alex, Adrien and Jonas, his old gang, he starts all over again. As they try to balance romance, careers and parents in their own hilarious ways, they must also figure out how to enjoy the rest of their lives because they are no longer twenty nor thirty yet, they are TWENTY-FIVE. TWENTY-FIVE offers a funny and realistic view on the humiliations, the errors and the failed first times of a group of 25-year-olds.
